EDITION 163

January 2018

CHAIRMAN OF THE SMTA

I would like to take this opportunity to wish all the staff at Smithfield, our friends at the City of London, customers, suppliers and other readers of this Gazette a happy and peaceful Christmas and all the very best for 2018. Next year we can look forward to celebrating the 150th Anniversary of the Victorian market buildings, which were opened on 24th November 1868. We are working closely with the Museum of London to put on a fitting celebration over the August Bank Holiday weekend to which all will be welcome – something to look forward to!

Greg Lawrence

THE LORD MAYOR

I am delighted to wish everyone at Smithfield a very happy New Year! Smithfield is a treasured part of the City of London and we in the City are grateful for the year-round hard work by everyone involved with the Market; especially during the festive season. Smithfield Market has played a special part in the life of London for centuries, and it's fantastic to see it thriving today. Your contribution to the City's eclectic social and cultural offer is simply unique and much valued. I thoroughly look forward to visiting the Market during my Mayoralty, and would like to wish you all a very happy 2018.

Alderman Charles Bowman

SMITHFIELD MARKET 150TH ANNIVERSARY

Over the August Bank Holiday in 2018, the Museum of London will join forces with the Smithfield Market Tenants' Association (SMTA) and others to put on a large-scale weekend street party of free, public festivities to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the iconic markets at Smithfield. The weekend will be reminiscent of the old St Bartholomew's Fair and feature food, music, historic re-enactments and much more. On 24th November 1868 the newly redesigned Smithfield meat market, which is owned and managed by the City of London Corporation, was officially opened after years of redevelopment. Designed by acclaimed architect Sir Horace Jones, the new market was the talk of London, and restored the market's position in the heart of the bustling City.

Sharon Ament, Director of the Museum of London, said: "There has been a market on site at Smithfield in some form for hundreds of years. It was the epicentre of market trading in London with people coming from miles around to buy and sell their produce or join in with the historic St Bartholomew's Fair – one of the biggest festivals of its day. Next year we will, together with the SMTA, recreate this momentous celebration to mark the 150th anniversary of these astonishing markets. All of London is invited to come and be part of this special occasion." Greg Lawrence, Chairman of the SMTA which represents the meat traders, said: "The 150th Anniversary is a major milestone in the history of the Market and we look forward to celebrating it with our friends and neighbours."

THE SMITHFIELD GAZETTE COMMENT

Looking back at 2017, we have had more than our share of bad news this year with terrorist attacks and natural disasters, as well as the loss of our great friend Peter Martinelli, and the political situation doesn't seem to improve either. The Brexit 'negotiations' seem to go from bad to worse. We can only hope that the hopes of the majority who voted leave are not betrayed and that a deal is arrived at that we can all live with. Let us hope that things improve in 2018.

THE NEW LORD MAYOR ALDERMAN CHARLES BOWMAN

Alderman Charles Bowman took office as the 690th Lord Mayor of the City of London on Friday 10th November. The new Lord Mayor is a chartered accountant. He qualified with PwC in 1986 and was admitted to partnership in 1995. His main area of specialism has been delivering audit and capital market transaction services to large listed and multi-national companies. He has served on the Council of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales.

He was elected as the Alderman of the Ward of Lime Street in May 2013 and became the Aldermanic Sheriff of the City of London in September 2015. He has served on a number of committees of the City of London Corporation. He is a member of the Court of the Worshipful Company of Grocers and a liveryman of the Worshipful Company of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales as well as being a magistrate, school governor and Ambassador for the Samaritans.

THE WARD OF LIME STREET

The new Lord Mayor's Ward of Lime Street is so named due to the production of lime in the area in mediaeval times. Lime was an important material from ancient times for the construction of buildings, acting as mortar and also being used in plaster. Today the Ward is identified more closely with the insurance industry as it contains the Lloyd's building and the offices of several prominent insurance companies.

It is thought that Charles Dickens sited the house of Ebenezer Scrooge where the Lloyd's building is now on the corner of Lime Street and Leadenhall Street.

IN MY OPINION

The office of Chief Commoner is the highest civic position within the Corporation of London to which a Common Councilman, as such, can aspire. The role has changed greatly in recent years and now shares prominence with the Chairman of Policy and Resources Committee although 'The Chief' takes precedence still at civic and ceremonial events following immediately behind the Lord Mayor and the Sheriffs and ahead of all other Aldermen and Common Councilmen. The Corporation still resists the title of 'Leader' but the political leadership comes from the Chairman of Policy.

The title of Chief Commoner is first recorded in 1879 but the role is commonly understood to date back to medieval times due to the custodial responsibilities for city lands and Bridge House Estates, now taken over by the City's Investment Committee.

The Chief takes the lead on the planning of all Corporation hospitality and in authorising the use of the whole Guildhall complex including the Yard and Art Gallery, chooses fixtures and fittings when required and deals with complaints.

Like the Lord Mayor the office is for one year only but is greatly sought after and highly esteemed by all members of the Court. The Chief has a pastoral responsibility, will provide advice and guidance to members if necessary including an informal disciplinary and dispute resolution function.

The role is very active with several sub Committees to chair and many events representing the members or the City when the Lord Mayor or the Sheriffs are unable to attend.

Farringdon Without was last represented by a Chief Commoner in 2002 when Jeremy Charkham took office. I am proud to be bringing prominence again to the best Ward in the City and as only the fifth woman to be Chief Commoner since records began.

Wendy Mead OBE

BDCI LAUNCHES LEAN ON US

To help increase the spread of the good work BDCI (the Butchers' and Drovers' Charitable Institution) does, they have launched an exciting new initiative designed to communicate that practical help is available. 'Lean On Us' neatly sums up the core of everything that BDCI stands for, and it represents the ultimate benefit that they offer... when you need extra help, just 'Lean On Us' and BDCI will be there for you. BDCI provides support for anyone in the UK and the Republic of Ireland who has been connected with the meat trade, as well as their widows/widowers or dependents. Help is available for those who maybe struggling to cope for a variety of needs including paying bills, repairs to the home, mobility equipment and nursing home fees.

If you know of anyone who could do with some support please encourage them to get in contact. Further details and a copy of the application form can be found on BDCI's website: www.bdcj.uk.com. Alternatively applicants can contact BDCI directly by telephone on 01727 896094 or via e-mail info@bdcj.uk.com. Here are some examples of how BDCI have helped recently:

Jane is PA at a butchery company. Her youngest son has a rare, incurable and progressive brain disorder and has undergone treatment at Sheffield Children's Hospital, Great Ormond Street Hospital and in Switzerland. Further surgery is now the only option as the artery at the back of his brain has partially collapsed which could lead to a stroke and loss of eyesight. The BDCI is helping with funding necessary trips to Switzerland.

Kelvin has worked in the industry for 46 years, starting as a delivery boy and becoming Butchery Manager at a major supermarket chain. As well as suffering from rheumatism in his ankles, knees, wrists and spine, he was recently diagnosed with prostate cancer and has not been able to work since last November. Kelvin's wife is registered disabled and is also now unable to work. They have been managing by using their savings but in addition to their normal living expenses, they must both regularly attend several hospitals, which involves additional car, petrol and parking expenses. The BDCI has provided financial support enabling them to continue to run their car.

Catherine's husband worked as a butcher for 38 years until he was diagnosed with throat cancer in 2010. Despite radiotherapy and chemotherapy, his condition deteriorated and he developed secondary cancer in his bones and died. He had always dealt with the household finances and so it came as a big shock when Catherine had to deal with all the bills herself. Liverpool Community Advice have been helping Catherine and made the request to BDCI on her behalf. The BDCI has provided financial assistance.

NEW COURT CENTRE FOR FARRINGDON WITHOUT

A new court building has been proposed to be built near the Temple in the area of Fleet Street. It would contain eighteen state of the art courtrooms and would replace all of the City's current courts except the Old Bailey. This means it would house the City's Civil Court, the Mayor's and City of London County Court, the City's Magistrates' Court and new Crown Court facilities. The focus will be mainly, but not exclusively, on cases dealing with fraud, economic crime and cyber-crime.

The plans for the court are being developed in partnership with HM Courts and Tribunal Service and the judiciary. A feasibility study is to be completed early in 2018. The location would put the new court building conveniently near to the Rolls Building, the Royal Courts of Justice the Old Bailey and the Inns of Court.

THAMES TIDEWAY PROJECT

The Thames Tideway is a 15-mile-long sewer, the width of three London buses, which is being bored under the River Thames. It is designed to prevent millions of tonnes of sewage from overflowing into the tidal Thames every year from the capital's overloaded Victorian sewer system. Construction started in 2016 and is due to be completed in 2024.

There is a major site associated with this project at the northern end of Blackfriars Bridge. This is for enabling works to create a Fleet River outflow on the foreshore. Ultimately, a new one and a half acre public space will be created.

There has been a major issue involving the relocation of mains gas supply away from the site and this will cause disruption near Tudor Street, John Islip Street and the approach to Blackfriars junction.

There has already been major disruption caused by gas leaks and an interruption to electricity supplies in Bouverie Street and part of Fleet Street when a power cable was damaged by workmen.

NORTH/SOUTH CYCLE SUPERHIGHWAY EXTENSION

Enabling works for the North/South Cycle Superhighway extension north to King's Cross will start at the junction of the Farringdon Road with Charterhouse Street from 4th December as follows

From 4th to 8th December, 8am to 6pm, the northbound approach to the junction will be reduced to one lane. On 9th and 10th December eastbound and westbound approaches to the junction will be controlled by temporary traffic lights. From 11th to 26th December there will be no works but the junction will be controlled by temporary traffic lights.

From 27th to 30th December – Farringdon Street/Road closed between Ludgate Circus and Charterhouse Street. Northbound Market HGVs will be allowed through at Ludgate Circus on 27th and 28th by traffic marshals. There will be a signed diversion for other vehicles.

SMITHFIELD MARKET CHRISTMAS TRAFFIC PLAN

For the fourth consecutive Christmas trading period special arrangements will be put in place to try to ensure that traffic flows smoothly around the Market during opening times. This year, the plan will operate on the following nights from around 9pm until the following morning.

14/15 December 2017 (Thursday/Friday)
17/18 December 2017 (Sunday/Monday)
18/19 December 2017 (Monday/Tuesday)
19/20 December 2017 (Tuesday/Wednesday)
20/21 December 2017 (Wednesday/Thursday)
21/22 December 2017 (Thursday/Friday)

The aim is to encourage non-Market traffic to use alternative routes during those times and to regulate access for Market traffic by designating entry and exit points for different classes of vehicles. Full details can be found on our website.

PETER MARTINELLI MBE

7TH DECEMBER 1930 - 27TH APRIL 2017

Peter Martinelli, who has died aged 86, became one of the merchant princes of Smithfield Market, having begun his career there in the 1950s as a humble offal salesman.

Smithfield's great meat market has operated in one form or another since the 10th century. In the 18th century Daniel Defoe called it "without question, the greatest in the world".

The market's buildings were badly damaged by a V-2 rocket in 1945. By this time all meat had been rationed in Britain to support the war effort, and Smithfield had been forced to open for business at 6am instead of the traditional hour of midnight. The curtailed schedule persisted until 1954, when meat became the last foodstuff to come off rations.

It was in this year that Martinelli got his first job at the market. With a young family to support, he answered an ad for a cashier at Smithfield. With the market coming alive once again, he was soon given his chance "on the front", as an offal salesman for AJ Poels. Business in those days was done mostly in the smoke-filled surroundings of the local pubs.

Working for some of the established trading families, Martinelli did well, and in the mid-1960s set up, with a partner, his own business, P J Mallinder. He was quick to invest in new technologies in packaging, refrigeration and freight-handling, and imported much of his meat from South America and Africa. In 1987 he sold the business to the Botswanan government, and a year later, with his son Paul and another partner, Michael George, he set up PJ Martinelli. He retired in 1995, and his son continues to run the company today.

Pietro Giuseppi Nicola Martinelli (he later changed his name to Peter by deed poll) was born on December 7 1930 in Paddington, the only son among six children. His father had left Pontremoli in Tuscany as a teenager in 1909 and had worked his way on the railways to London, where he opened a café in Warren Street. The Fitzroy Café was patronised by policemen and criminals. Among the latter was Stan "The Spiv" Setty, a second-hand-car dealer who was murdered in 1949; his mutilated corpse – clad in a cream silk shirt and blue silk shorts – was dumped from an aeroplane on to the Essex marshes, where it was found by a farm labourer in search of a duck for his supper.

Peter was educated near the family home in Stockwell, and with his youngest sister he was evacuated to Lancaster for two years. On his return he worked at his father's café. Aged 17, he married Marie Caluori, a Swiss girl he had met at the local Catholic youth club. He then joined the RAF for National Service, his experience in Sunderland flying boats leaving him with a lifelong dislike of aeroplanes.

On demob, he took jobs as a runner for Fleet Street photographers, supplementing his income by playing alto saxophone at pub gigs with a jazz band, before starting his career at the meat market.

Martinelli was an independent spirit. In the late 1980s, appalled by what he saw as restrictive working practices, he faced a mass picket by the Transport and General Workers' Union. In an attempt to prevent the doubling of rents of Smithfield traders, in 1993 he was elected to, the Court of Common Council, the City of London Corporation's ruling body. He served there until 2013, and in 2010 was appointed MBE.

He was a member of the Worshipful Company of Butchers from 1966, and president of the Smithfield Market Tenants' Association.

Those visiting his office might be offered an early morning glass of champagne, and his work for charities never lacked imagination: he once hired the Top of the Pops dance troupe Pan's People to entertain a fundraising evening at the Grosvenor House Hotel; and on another occasion arranged for a racehorse, prior to its auction, to be ridden into the River Room of the Savoy.

A keen golfer, he was also a lifelong Millwall supporter, becoming a director of the club in the 1970s. He embraced social media, in his eighties enjoying his Twitter account. In 2013 he moved permanently to Tenerife, where he had rented a house for many years.

Peter Martinelli's marriage to Marie was dissolved. She survives him with their two sons and three daughters, and he is also survived by his long-time partner, Lana Horton.

A memorial service was held at St Bartholomew the Great in West Smithfield on 19th October and was well attended by his family, friends and colleagues from the Market and the City of London.

"'Tis not in mortals to command success, but we'll do more, Sempronius; we'll deserve it."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Charlie Falloon who worked at Smithfield many years ago died recently. His funeral will take place in Norfolk on 14th December.

No deal Brexit bad for EU meat sector – the European Livestock and Meat Trades Union has analysed that, in a no deal scenario, the meat sector faces the highest tariffs under WTO rules. When added to customs and veterinary checks and increased transport costs, this could reduce meat exports from the EU27 to the UK by up to 84% for beef, 48% for pigmeat and 76% for sheepmeat, causing a surplus in the EU and leading to a reduction in the value of EU production.
